

Sample Size: 1603 GB Adults
Fieldwork: 26th - 27th June 2017
Publishing Date: 17 July, 2017

Table with columns for Vote in 2017, EU Ref 2016, Gender, Age, Social Grade, Region, and Which of the following best reflects your view?

How much importance do you think the government should attach to reducing immigration from the European Union in the Brexit negotiations?

Table with 20 columns representing different categories of importance and response options.

In negotiating Brexit, how satisfied or dissatisfied would you be if the government tried to keep full access for British businesses to the European Single Market, and in exchange offered free movement of workers between the EU and Britain, provided Britain could restrict welfare and unemployment benefits to EU citizens until they had paid taxes for at least one year?

Table showing satisfaction levels with 20 columns for different response categories.

In negotiating a new relationship with Europe how important, if at all, do you think it is for your government to preserve the right of UK citizens to work, study, travel or retire anywhere in the EU?

Table showing importance levels with 20 columns for different response categories.

In negotiating Britain's departure from the European Union, do you think our government should offer EU citizens the right to travel, work, study or retire in Britain, in exchange for EU countries giving British citizens the same rights?

Table showing opinions on offering rights with 20 columns for different response categories.

Now imagine the government changed the rules so that EU citizens were allowed to travel to Britain for work, tourism or education, but had to return to their own countries if they had not found a job or a university place within three months. Under these circumstances, which of the following would come closest to your view about freedom of movement?

Table with 5 main categories and 20 columns for response options.

In negotiating Brexit, how satisfied or dissatisfied would you be if the government tried to keep full access for British businesses to the European Single Market, and in exchange offered free movement of people between the EU and Britain, provided Britain could force EU citizens to go back to their countries after three months if they had not found a job or university place?

Table showing satisfaction levels with 20 columns for different response categories.

In negotiating Brexit, how satisfied or dissatisfied would you be if the government tried to keep full access for British businesses to the European Single Market, and in exchange offered free movement of workers between the EU and Britain, provided a surge in EU citizens coming over could be controlled with an "emergency brake"?

Table showing satisfaction levels with 20 columns for different response categories.